

As the official card game of the Brau family, sheep head is often a bitter affair. Hops trump this ale featuring four spicy varieties in generous additions. Finally, an extended period of dry-hopping brings it all together. Malt is not completely forgotten, as multiple toasted malts do not fail to add balance and structure to this intense ale. Our game is as unique as our beer, both a Brau family treat!

Style: Estate-Hopped Lucan Ale

Description:

Hop heads in southwest Minnesota have long been a growing but starving population. After numerous requests for a mouth puckering hoppy beer, we've stepped up to the plate with Sheep Head Ale. This beer is named after our favorite family pastime, sheep head. Hops dominate with a balance of spicy herbal hops up front followed by the citrus and grass of American hops. Malt is not forgotten by means of heavily toasted and chocolate malt. This is a great beer for a long winter session of card playing with family.

Service:

Pints of Sheep Head Ale are a serious undertaking! A very pale amber pour is topped with white head. Medium carbonation cuts through the bitterness yet enhances the citrus aroma. Sheep Head Ale is both deep and flavorful, yet extremely refreshing!
